Navigating the Past

As early as the 19th century, many families occupied the parcels of land that make up what today is the Yamaska National Park. The families Maxime, Delorme, Choinière, and others have lived on this land for generations. Let us tell you about this unusual chapter in the human history of the sector. A boat trip of approximately 120 minutes takes you back in time, from one buoy to the next. Locate the starting buoys in front of the beach area and explore the history of this territory.

Free of charge.

Rental of sailing equipment not included.

Nocturnal Symphony

The setting sun is the wake-up call for many animals. Have you ever been startled by a cry or unusual sound coming from the forest? Grab a flashlight and follow the guide for a supervised hike. You'll learn more about these small critters that are watching you while keeping out of sight. What wonders of the night will reveal themselves?

Cost: Free. Duration: 60 minutes.

CONSERVE FOR TOMORROW

Are you a Responsible Fisher?

Yellow perch is on the decline in the park! Find out about proper catch-and-release techniques.

Good practices to follow are rinsing your hands in water before handling fish, not touching their gills and eyes, limiting handling time out of the water, and keeping the fish horizontal. Use artificial baits and lures or circle hooks with natural baits to reduce the risk of serious injury to the fish.

Thank you for your collaboration!

Mischievous Masked Bandits

Peek-a-boo! Here I am – so close, just behind a tree, waiting for the right time to steal some grub. With my cunning character and velvety-soft paws, I have the smarts to get to your food, even in broad daylight – right under your nose. The only real obstacle is your car's metal trunk. You can bet that if you leave food, leftovers, dirty dishes or garbage within my arm's reach, whether on the picnic table, in your cooler or in your tent, I will invite myself and my apprentices without waiting for nightfall. Consider yourself forewarned!

Phragmites australis

The common reed is an invasive exotic plant that competes with native Quebec species, such as cattails, and negatively affects the biodiversity of invaded ecosystems. In our national park, eradication work has been underway for several years on the campgrounds, at the beach and around the trail network.

5 ground rules to follow in nature

Our national parks

get millions of visits each year. Harmful behaviors can cause permanent damage to the environment and hinder other visitors' experience. Let's do our part to protect nature so we can all enjoy it for years to come.

Stay on trails and in designated visitor areas

Don't step off the trails or walk in the undergrowth to avoid trampling plants and compacting the soil.

Do not gather dead wood

Help preserve the undergrowth by leaving dead wood in place. It serves as shelter for wildlife and enriches the soil after decomposing.

Do not feed wildlife

Allow animals to feed themselves so they can follow their natural instincts. Keep all foods out of their reach.

Keep your distance when observing animals

Repeated disturbances can alter their behavior and affect their ability to find food, mate, and communicate with each other.

Be mindful of the peace and quiet and adhere to curfews

Noise frightens wildlife, and people visit national parks to enjoy nature. Please follow curfews and refrain from making noise at all times.
